This book talks about the situation and occurrences faced at the higher institution by student at different level of tertiary life among peers and the total campus life activities.

True life occurrence, in narrative of every day affairs. It express modes and outcomes of freedom among youth outside the next of their guardians and family, a story revolving lifes adventure and unexpected challenges in tertiary society.

Many young aspiring youth have great dreams and goals to achieve. At a time, focus and good ready to go in achieving them with all determination but at a point distraction and complacency set in and its becomes a case of drifting away from the original suppose plan in the area of interest. How youth manage this pressure varies in several ways of response to it, which gauratees the outcome of whether they meet up in accomplishing or making their dreams come true or not. "Life they say is a lesson"

And each person experience keeps revolving and resonating around a personal perception to it. some folks handle it in self awareness, some other just enjoy the refreshing ride of its moment forgetting themselves, others are one that have a close monitor from parent and guardian as regards supervision and monitoring their behaviours. In which ever case every other kinds of reason manifest itself as regard adapting to this challenges whether positive or negative.

True life references are made in this observation to show reality. A reality into fact in coverage to campus life.

Many of us have experience of what life is all about at the higher institution with the challenges it all involve, it a cycle of every day legacy walk with all kind of people from different ethnics across the state of a country or probably outsiders from other country trying to share a privilege of schooling in different region away from their own country, but it is sure that experiences will always differ in academic practices, which makes an institution stands out in profile against one another. Whatever the case is, the point hit on the fact that..everyone in the atmosphere of a campus life get to learn. At a point, it becomes a choice of what anyone involve is willing to learn, mind you. All kinds of learning goes on at this level aside the normal required class room attendance and all other signings at various department on a particular institutional campus.

Most of course, there are learning from friends coming from various religious believes and ways of nurture background, all this kinds of people relate interwovenly with several ideas amongst selves, which travels at influence of sharpening what ever concept other fellows life molds up to be. Its all about interest, on whatever a fellow friend feels comfortable with on campus. In the end they all get to learn and imbibe in this intake of mixed culture's, culture modernly knows as style and ways of doing thing in talking and acting, in the course to fit in to gain approval of his fellow friends on campus, without which he or she will never fits in, in this legacy walk of popularity and acceptance. So therefore, an aspiring student in this atmosphere of influence will want to be accepted. many attribute of this expectations are dressing in known kinds of designers clothing, not just clothing self, usage of slangs, big boy or girl gesture, moving with the appreciated other caliber of friends, news of glamouring activities about them by the campus mass.

Meanwhile nothing over ride and awakes the sence of other non privilege student in their own deprived community they come from, to blend in this appealing, glamour campus offering environment. They follow the path to this turn to be with this campus creditified.

On campus, the course of each student study vary from intended students plan, some student intends studying a particular interested courses they purposed to before gaining admission and they ends up achieving their obligation as regards to their determination, by having a meaningful qualified marks, thereby gaining admission through hard study, while some other folks intends a particular course of study, did probably well but whatever marks attain could not meet up to the institution departmental cut off marks prearrangements. So, they have to shake off other possibility into moving forward, by choosing other appeal course that accept their possibility of gaining admission, in many case a student intending to study computer engineering, would have to be forces to choose to accept probably agricultural science. The head blotted forfeit the opportunity of early studies, by choosing to take up the next coming exams for admission due to the fact that they believe, they could study to rewrite for the examination better in wanting the same course they were not accepted in the preferred institution at the following year. Some other folks might never had the privilege to higher institution at all due to poor performance in result to low grade during admission process. Many times folks in this category are usually discouraged, giving another trial at the following year becomes a thug of wars in the area of preparation. At this point, they forfeit the benefit of a proper education in the society and official sector. Getting themselves stalk in low ranging occupations, in the future, among peers that tried further to complete their education, they become an object of ridicule.

There are some certain requirement that must be provided to be qualified for a meaningful position in the society and nothing override a complete balance education. Its an amazing thing to know how some other people risk everything they have in support to needing education, this cases mostly stem from parent who probably must have served in an education environment or having a related experiences with educationist, where they have to observe how they do things in a manner that shows the constructive attribute of higher learning culture, that demarcate the one without education as lame. Like it been said a slogan among the people that knows the value of education "That a child without education is like a bird without wings. Having observe the ways that makes an educated person different from an illiterate, the struggle becomes an effort to make sure that their children must have education by every means to escape the malady of been trampled upon in the society by the privilege ones. i.e when we have a cleaner or a casual worker in service around professor or some other professional practisioner. So this kind of parent risk everything to see that they have children that will come up in life as such, to make them proud, even if they are not oportune for education themselves.

Embracing truth and facts is a personal decision. Some children at this parental providence, might never want to come up to expectation due low self esteem, coming from poor parental support in compare to other friends. while some other children reason with their poor supportive parent ,in cooperation to the reason why they have to go to school by going through its rough bending process of needing other peoples help, to complete whatever requirement requested on various departmental needs, at consecutive periods as regard money aspect. At the first and second semester duration, as study commence. Importantly, how an institution conceptualize its modes of academic excellent aims matters at the long run, because their must be a proper organization so as not to compile to student challenges on the issues of signing course forms ,at a period when lecture is going on and still yet a lecturer impose deadline on student on the case of file submission during registration, cases like this are rampant at the state university and it leads to a lot more intereference for student, having a lot more to do than necessary, and not to mention other domestic affair a student handle after lectures in the area of feeding and taking care of his or her room and all.

More also, pressures mount from assignment obligations, the ones pursuing double honour courses, face the issues of class test. For instance, some student run course like computer science/ accounting, while a class goes on at the computer science class, multiple assignments and test will be awaiting him at the accounting class. Well not all student, master the act of management as regard this phase of pressurize experience, of the double hons. A whole lot have to be done with splitted brains. Many student finds it very challenging handling such course of study. At the start, such course looks to a student like everything to be wanted in a balance study, but has the compiling lectures with class work and assignment amount, a student might want to change to other course or drop one of the attached extra curriculum courses, just to be able to cope. Its all inclusive in various aspect of studies because understanding the basis of wanting to take up a responsibility should be more into consideration than just dabbling into it without analyses and proper findings, before dissolving into the pool and later realize to spend precious time trying to pull out while other programs lie in wait.

How student respond to this should be considered properly. Some standardize institute recognize the hurdles that make student feel despair towards learning ,and they create an atmosphere condusive for their learning experience. This type of institution is not for every other kinds of student but for the ones with rich background in response to turn ups with expences. Let thinks about a kind of university where a parent pays a little more than half of a million naira for just a semester?...The question comes in, how many people can afford such expenditures involve?

Meanwhile, this point to the difference in cultural ethics impacted to a student towards excellence, in which student in other institution not in leverage with their type, becomes a little unequipped to some extent, due to restricted access to infrastructural facilities and recreation, the rich student enjoys. So atmosphere of learning stays differ ,even though courses outline stays the same across every universities nation wide.

In general, the mode of learning remains the same in information based studies. However, response to the concept of learning remains a factor, that builds up a student in the area of interest to each other, within the environment of learning. Most of all, there is always a positive approach to do, in the sense of been passionate about obligation via dogged determination in achieving personal aim.

This factor is a significant individualized decision that must be taken by each student, to avert all other possible distracting activities revolving around the campus system.

To some extent, this decision to stay glue to the institution academic standards is a big challenge to some sect of student who have problem with adherence to time table, due to involvement with pleasure among rich peers, since they are far away from monitoring by guardian, cases as such is rampant at the state universities where student stays off campus. So in cases where student lives off campus might leads to redundancy and student relapse due to the fact of been absence from the circle of other student in view, which foster self alertness and awareness to the academic layout on going, in campus. So when this fact is ignored by any student living off campus away from the normal school activities, that inspires every next possible line of action against the next day class and courses attendance, the case is always an outcome of down the drain to any student that fail to mingle with this prioritize student practice. Thereby, they fail in doing what is expected to be done under normal circumstances on campus. Student at the state University level face the bigger part of problems like this, since accommodation is only made available off campus, to the outside towns and city around the vicinity, in which societal mingling outside the school matters might take the best of some student performance in the academics.

Some student handle issue much closely by keeping course mate majorly as friends, thereby constantly updating themselves alongside with their friends on campus curriculums. In which in so doing, keeps them abreast towards achieving their goals in life as a graduate.

Thinking about, the conjestive emblems of learning through struggles, a student will always come to a point where he must believe in his or herself's perception in the capability to handle whatever difficulty that present itself, as experiences of campus life builds up their characters in many ways. There are other factors that stalks up learning, lifestyle of partying, occultism, prostitution, alcoholism, drug abuse, forgery, bribery and many more to be mention as the turn takes up in this content.

Partying:

On campus, grooving is part of the social norms, where student gets to express themselves in youthful exorberant.

Partying on campus is always at the tail end of abuse, when a student gets lost in the thrilling experience more often.

A lot of activities are involving. Activities like smoking, drinking, dancing and aftermath of sexual intersession among friends along the event.

A campus affair entertains celebration and an interested student drift in its excitement, if its adds value to their personality as regards what they stand to be known for. There are the smart kinds of students, who are always quick to draw lines, knowing timing is everything. Its fun if a student can keep pace with the thrill of party excitement as to make is schooling more fun filling and eventful, but its not too easy. A life of party for a student could opens a regrettable outcomes in its effect. A student might drown in over excessive involvement due peer pressure, involvement with hard drugs, thereby becoming an addict to all kinds of ecstasy like marijuana, hard pills, loud blunt, cocaine, drunkenness and other stimulant, which could alter a student perception towards response to school affairs. Hallucination of the mind sets in, nonchallant attitude, carelessness, unreasonable approach to matters, total loss of self control ends up becoming a factor. A lots more student stumbles on this atmospheric party life, which ends in complecancy in the area of education.

In fact, if a student will make it up in good grades and flying colours in schooling, a party life should be done without. Its better done away with than involving oneself, thinking to handle class affairs only to find out that its all ends in self deception. Careful thought and decision should be given to this because even a good grace could fall into frustration of careless relapses.

Occultism:

Where ever there is a silver lining, there is a dark cloud. Occultism on campus, takes several forms, but it's a power play measures among student that want something more than the ordinary. A university set up is multi faceted environment influence by different kinds of people from several ethnics, for this reason, we cant over look oppression and domination among student through forceful means. This is a social norms activities on every campus nation wide. Some of this brotherhood fraternity activities, varies in ways of active operation among university in different levels. However its been carried out on campus, the outcomes is always deadly especially when two different opposing cult member clashes over issues.

Issues of power play is always the case, its may be a fight over an apprehended beautiful girl on campus, extortion or just over any kinds of position. All of which aftermath ends up in killing of each other, in many cases innocent student also fall victims at the course of this clash.

Some new arrival student on campus with over bloated ego, mostly feels a heighten needs to join this gang on campus, in attempt to maintain a position for accessible premises and activities. A lot more of this freshers get initiated. There are the Axe men popularly known as the black Axe, a dangerous kind of crew in emergence, There are the Ibaka known as the blue gang of birds, mean in their ways, There are the Buccanire popularly known as the red gang crew, others are vickings, the skull, Pirate, sea dogs, creep, blood e.t.c. They are all blood tasty ruthless mean mugging secret society.

Student who stood afloat in other student awareness of it on campus, with visible evidences of felony get rusticated by the school authority. The one who participate actively across inter school for an accompany hits on opposition cult member, sometime falls victim to miserable end. The one who keep pulling hits and still returns on several records are term the capon on campus. This sect barely create a visible face on campus except occasionally, as they dread them. There name rings out on campus premises, with their gist terrifying average student on campus as the score counters but they are barely known facially.

Prostitution:

Cases of prostitution stems from misplacement of priority among ladies of high profile on campus, in many instances, this girls are members of female cultism, there activities are those with relativity with the rich men outside the campus premises, the known so called sugar daddy who supplies this girls with whatever they needed to keep up with their superflosing act, They barely relate with their course mate except for the selected few and demanding lecturers. This girls are seductive and uses sex as a weapon of offence and defence towards their daily dealings among male counterpart on campus and outside campus. Also, they are ,known as the club representative for the club guys. They keep handsome boy friends on campus whom they lavish and keep close as a promising lover, while they keep on with all kinds of escapades around town in quest for financial up keep and leverage positions among their peers..

This act of prostitution has become a thug of war in every institution and directly or indirectly, campus girls engage in this practices to keep up with school expenses. All this needs transcend in various mischievous action in engagement and its re occurred itself in most rampant lifestyle's they call it opportunity to explore freedom. At this stage they feel so superior, thinking to be in charge of their lives, while a delicate water loop awaits them in the future. In most cases, they get exposed to sexual diseases or probably most rampant unprecedented abortion, in which cases affect the state of mind in relapses toward their education. At the course of their education and embargo emerge to hinder their arrangement of study towards the school curriculum. So they eventually drop out of school minding other kind of business.

Alcoholism:

This act is an undeniable factor that influences and encourage a reckless lifestyle among youth of today. Alcoholism as become a factor that is counted as regard maturity in the society. Once you are around mate on campus drinking alcohol without been involving, they term a lad has a juvenile unexposed amongst.

Drinking is not a thing to condemn in the society but abuse of it should be opposed and mindfully considered, so as not to give irresponsible impression in the society while engagement on such profile.

Some student don't drink at all like most people as well, cases like this are found among the religious upholding principle of some peoples doctrine. It is expected for a dedicated Christian or Muslim not to be found drinking in the society, so as not to have them on a questionable harassing ground on their religious base. So a proper consideration is minded often times in this regard. Activities of birthday parties, clubbing and all forms of celebration could just emerge itself on campus at unplanned period per time, it becomes a fun for some student to want to get their groove on, to release the stiff neck of class work bearance, and might want to participate in any one of the event that lingers at the time. Enjoying oneself is never a bad idea, but it should be consciously and mindfully taking care of, to avoid misplacement of priority and awkward abusive lifestyle. This habit is one of those reckless attribute that goes along way to define the personality of an individual in the society, moderation should be a factor if anyone shows interest in drinking so as not be an abuse to oneself. A lot more relevant people that started up well with an organization, some where along the line caught up with the addictions of drinking, get displace from their position outside the system.

Drug Abuse:

Drugs are good for the up keep of a proper resounding health to regenerate itself by an individual.

But not all drugs are medications, for there are other stimulant called drugs. Stimulant are the point of reference as regard the response and attitude of student toward exposure to this hard substance. there marijuana, cocaine, pawpaw, pills, injection, heroine e.t.c.

Some people find stability of self awareness under the influence of drugs, some do not, some others are chronic addict. Hard drugs in its own right deplete the conditions of human memory in hallucination, its influence play tricks on the mind with divided attention towards relevant affairs. A student living with addictions of stimulant drugs seldomly struggles with procrastination towards school affairs. Young student on campus, get themselves caught up in this act too quick in respect to freedom and self expression, affiliation with improper lifestyle as such spells a great disaster in the outlook appearances of a student behavior towards every other things, in dressing mode and modes of conduct. Some get enchanted by getting lost in drug abuse and their sad story ends up in psychiatrist hospital, that is if they are lucky to have their health case taken up by guardian or parent. The case Is always sad when a victimized student cant get rehabilitation support from non due expenses. This cases are mostly an incidence of public madness due out of mindedness caused by drug addiction. Some relocate their gracious destiny to the street, wandering around in dirty rag clothings and dirty unkept over grown hair.

Its sad witnessing a promising student reporting back to sponsors at this turn out. The journey through life can not be that without involvement in habitual activities but proper measure must be taken to ensure a balance lifestyle of progress, if need be total abstinence would be preferable.

Forgery:

In the school system, student make payment as regards to tuition fee and every other kind of campus payment plan that requires issuing of receipt. This receipt are paper documentation needed in their departmental and school file. Student from rich background are seldomly guilty of forgery cases. Due to extravagant lifestyle, when the school authority makes a mandate of a particular payment of any form, this student have colleague on campus that makes a receipt duplication for sale for this sect, all they need to do is just to collect a more substantial amount of money, twice or triple time the required amount by school authority maybe school fees from their parent, after making the school payment and pocketing the rest money, the next plan is to go an purchased an original looking forged receipt, with the amount collected from parent written and signed on it with forged signature of the school registrar presented to parent. Forgery comes on different forms on campus as regards to student file and institution documentation of their profile. This of course acted to the social norms on campus. In addition to the effect of the net cause at the long run, the forgery act becomes an habitual concept for some student and they there by adopt forgery as lifestyle of scam. Some student misplace priority and find themselves caught up in the net they could not easily get out from as a result of ill gotten quick deceptive way of making a living. The result is always the case of crime.

Bribery:

The act of bribery transcend in various level, and its proclaim itself in the mode of give and have your way interaction. Some student bribe there way with money, while some as in the case of prostitution take advantage of chances and good grace with there body. During admission process, many more lecturer turn up with lost of integrity, doing everything possible to get an unqualified student register for a course ,he or she did not merit just because ,a rich parent lavish money on them with the expectancy of a way forward for their child.

At the departmental and faculty on campuses, there are always some under cover agent man, who network student with lecturers in an attempt in profit making for themselves, the student don't have to see the lecturer, all that is required is to keep a close intimacy to this under cover agent. i.e mostly they are found in the campus library, working as ghost staff. They are not the noise making loud individuals but of course, they mingle in with campus occults. the lecturers that works under neath with them on bribery of student acceptance as regard unmerited marks, lecturers dread this guys too, so there is this kind of mutual understanding among them. jobs like boosting of G.p grade point average by lectures that sets same exams after collecting money from his agent to grant access for undeserved grade, others are late file arrangement. the agent would have to help the student who could not make up with file completion for submission, by sloting files into the faculty arrangement shelf after receiving dues for the course. So therefore, the agent alone don't enjoy the benefit, even the table handlers that transfers file get paid by the agent, on some occasion that demands emergency and a lot of money is required, even the head of department get paid to grant the equal access to this fat benevolence pocket, as long as they are willing to support the progress of their children's education.

Its all inclusive, campus Life is a platform of choice and decision making for any aspiring individual who would want to share an experience with furtherance of education. Our world revolves round the product from this sector towards the representation of public interest to the society, so proper interest must be placed and worked on this forum to the minute details toward the election of representative in relevant public sector to avoid national disgrace and marred reputation. Like a popular slogan which says..we can all pass through school but the school cannot pass through everyone. So in retrospect, student who observe ethics and terminology with good attitude towards learning and implementation of any possible ideas, should be profiled on governmental occupational shelve.

The school system is a platform of test for every participant student in higher institution. Therefore whether a student makes it to the ends of the pipe tunnel in graduation is a personal decisive anchor against all forms of distractions and set backs the side roads activities in campus offers. More disheartening in our society today are incompetence practices of some employed graduate, who have spelled wrong notion about their presence of mind in question to basis that are normally required of an average student, only to discovered they are merely figure heads who just bribed their way to school without any impact of courses engaged on them. As long as they have their certificate, all to consider on them is the fact that they still mark presence at the university. If this kind of situation comes up, if the employee in question is lucky enough, the organization can still consider a summer coaching class to amass orientation on their organization basis.

For a proper professionalism, mess like this for thought should be avoided by a serious applicant, by bringing all senses alive to the real public market in ways of maintaining a proper position that commands respect as a practisioner. An imbibe knowledge implemented pave way to greater achievement in the society. Therefore, education must be handled with a serious conscious effort to plan and purposes.

Lectures in different institution operate in different level of managing the responsiveness of student towards learning, depending on the quality standard of the particular institution in terms of access and conduciveness. A well paid lectures in an institution supported with good amenities is sure to reckon in the aspect of carrying student along under his jurisdiction, this are aspect to be considered. A state university is different from federal and private university, this differences makes the orientation that build up a student personality different from others, in terms of presentation of self in the society. A good communication skills serve as a remarkable plus in the totality of expression in public affair. While the latter get qualified in a conducive providence academic environment, the former cope with the struggle to attain achievement under unconducive atmosphere. Meanwhile, student range from different entire background and financial status of every other parent, guardian or sponsors as the case may be can never be equal .So even amongst us in the society we still have educated illiterate. They are not illiterate because they are not educated or whatsoever, they refer that because many people from this sect are from the rural region of the country, who only determine to share in the privilege of educational system. so their background which had been inculcated in primitivity, as regards to their orientation and self expression reflect itself in the ways they relate with others. meanwhile that don't mean they never get along with academical standard requirement prioritize. Infact the ones like this boastfully imbibe terminologies from botanical courses as slangs, to prove and show to the other colleague that stems from urban area that though they are illiterate, they are paying attention to what the lecturers says in lecture periods. But their relativity to social campus activities is Zero except for the selected rich few. This sect, takes education somehow so seriously with pride once they have the privilege, so once they get on break, back to village they can be term as formal champions among the village youth that never had same privilege. Therefore many new things they learn on campus becomes a paramount ideas they use to relate among their peers in their town. This is one of the medium, other ones that never had the privilege of sharing in the experience ongoing activities in the higher learning get to know. So they imitate instead just to blend into the current of the modern world of new experiences that looks decent and worth emulation to them. Some of this non privilege individual around the educated undergraduate privilege few in their local community, get a proper influence and its transcend into an unimaginable adventure, that gives them the opportunity to present themselves to the real world at the event of mastery in trying to find a voice for themselves in the society.

Having a heighten need to communicate an aspiring ideas could be a rare case of opportunity, so people in the line of living deprive of medium of modern engagement as this, sticks to an available opportunity they get in any form, in an attempt of making sure with determination to be part of this winners circle in the modern world. In this process, a lot of challenges emerge in a personal decisive measure by an individual, on how they respond in adjustment to the offers of the modern world. If its get too demanding for some of this people in rural sect, they cave in to give up their struggles and dream by retiring as a village low rangers, who could only maneuver their way around the village circle by getting themselves involve in any kind of trade. Challenges in life sometimes could be overbearing in terms of measures taken to resolve it tempering struggles, its bring to any situation. Its could either encourage or discourage, build or mar, create or destroy depending on what an individual is going through in the mode of its handling. Challenges could be a stumbling block, an hinderance that sometimes cant be move away with the help of any one except an individual takes an initiative of solving it themselves. Its much more tense if challenges is mental, because it will be a case of self to resolve this personal struggle within, before approaching physical hurdles. If its to the extreme, its victimizes an individual with deteriorating health of nervous breakdown or some other kinds of diseases. This are the experiences people in the rural go through before living the city back to their village to settle down as failures in the city market. Meanwhile, considering this things makes them to respect and reference the few one that were able to build a life in same place they found life to be harsh and ugly. Like the popular saying, which says you can force a horse to the river, but you can make the horse to drink, in retrospect the slogan elaborate a conscious effort to choice making and stressing the fact that no one has the capability of taking any one farther than they are willing to go. It is a case of courage and choice making. An embargo remains an embargo till an individual comes up with awakening of his or her senses, as pertaining to the constructive effort in making head way.

Been relevant is an attribute of a good student, having a mental alertness goes along way in creating a reputable profile for any student aspiring for greater height. The issues of mental alertness is an important point to note as regard proper delivery of service in various level for anyone, so as to portray self sufficiency and motivation in a clear cut manner to an affiliating organization. In the modern world of today, that has gone wide spread in facilitation with computer operation, the modern days student must be opened to this new offers and implementation of it to do things much more in better forms in acquiring of information. The constant thing we all know is change and its much progressive in ways a positivity outcomes when sustain with resounding quality information. Ideas rule the world they say and its is better defined to an optimum use when inculcated with information chattering its course for a gainful and benefitting outcomes.

That is why any country that does not support the establishment of education fall into the relapses of ignorant and seconding in every aspect in the society. Mostly prioritized, a standard outlook in the government sectors in gaining approval in all wide spread areas of interest where this qualified candidate are needed. As we all know, attaining this level of professionalism entails total dedication and sacrifice. A sacrifice that could be cost and pain effective for student from poor financial background, majorly parent who are just managing with every might they could muster to make sure their children are not left behind by their opportuned friends. Other sacrifice that emerge from the rich student from a stable financial up keep is the ability to do away with activities that attract to distract the spending channel to irrelevancies that complicate the school needs. In either both ways, the sacrifice are experiences on different platform, each individual student must be able to handle situations at whatever angle this challenges are been experience pertaining to sacrifice, if they are to accomplish their goals on the short and long term basis.

The campus life affairs is a world on its own where all attending student get to unveil a new world order to life, which goes a long way in relation to everything that matters most to any one of them at a time. Freedom is life, and its really loud and audible on campus in respect to the life around it as a whole. It is either appreciated or literarily carelessly thrown away. The brightest of all resources could be in waiste away, if its not properly handle and managed. The resulting case is that of the campus life. The participant in this campus terrain embraces all the process entails, build themselves to find a voice in the society. In return, the society acknowledge their service with the right recommendation. At the beginning of the journey through campus life, it might seem like the longest night that might never end, a mountain with flashes of doubt to surmount, but it's all a system enclosed in period and its temporal. So every phase of it must be embraced, learned and moved on with whatever experience it offers. Meanwhile, a student should ensure that whatever lesson learned from a transcending experience should be a beneficiary to the positive build-up of self. An ensuring that remains the only way a student can define him or herself as a qualified trained personnel in personal field of interest.

How responsive it gets determines the activeness of student involvement in paying attention to campus details. Considering education at the undergraduate level, it is to put in reference perseverance. Not only from student alone as regards staying dogged to class attendance and all other departmental activities that beckon, parent or guardian, other kind of sponsors too are all boxed in the state to persevere as of the support they render. All this should make a student sit up tight in regard to not disappointing the labour of these contributors. In the retrospect, a student is only active in the campus environment because of these contributors without which schooling can never be convenient neither able to be achieved. So therefore, these contributors should be the student's personal headache, a thing to worry about in terms of not letting them down in trust and resources. Knowing it's a team work affair that places him or her on the platform of higher institutional opportunity. In fact, an intelligent student should know how to make the most of this opportunity through proper implementation of common sense, putting every prioritized arrangement into order by carrying contributors along in the on goings of the campus affairs and feedback so as to encourage their voluntary contribution to his or her education. A smart student should not fail to keep them on proper update and current trends of learning discussion with them, so this set of helper will be empowered in line to put more effort into listening and helping to chatter the course of their recommendation with finance. People needs encouragement and in a system as this, a smart student must be able to know what works and try to be appreciative enough to his or her beneficiary, by keeping a serious attitude towards the importance of their support in hand. In short, this is the only way that guarantees stability and successful outcomes to achievement, in areas that matter most on campus.

Furthermore, not every student could actually maintain the balance of this equilibrium with their sponsors, as the case may be, some find it overbearingly challenging and they turn into complacency, probably distracted from what matters to the campus affairs, as they becomes and object of disappointment and shame to their sponsors. Other kinds of student are those that will never open up to any of their sponsors once they have problems of withdrawer or multiple carry over on their courses outline. They just simply play along with lies and lies, just to keep getting money from sponsors with hope of finding a start again in the following session or they just misses it all. Its this issue of maintaining a non sensible balance with sponsors as regards school concern that put them in position of abandonment, because it's a case of disheartening and discouragement for their sponsors once they find out they are lagging behind in the university. This period is the worse phase any student could have him or herself boxed in, traveling down the drain of dashed hopes and plans that was supposed to be a medium of headway in life. Every year, a lot more students fall victims of these careless actions. They fall into situations like this, losing confidence in themselves and have been unable to confront their sponsors on the challenges they are facing on campus. The next line of action is to get themselves with other friends facing the same issue, thinking not to be alone. Some students who get to a crossroad, summon courage and take a decision in dealing with their mistakes by every possible means to get back in line with their departmental curriculum. They might miss sessions, but it really would be a phase to learn from their mistake and become a better student. Like it has been mentioned, how a student responds to the challenges the educational standards a particular institution offers determine everything towards life.

Mistake should not be the end of the world but it should be a thing that gives a student an opportunity to learn from activities that can not be thought of by anyone except experience. There are a lot of activities on campus, that are so appealing that they could make a student stumble at times at the university settings, if not vigilant enough to see them as booby traps. These traps are all around on campus in various forms of interest that makes it unbelievably successful in outcomes, because they are interests that come invisibly on a low profile, then and there before the individual knows what is happening he or she is deep in it tormenting nets, and the result turns into struggles that would probably cost a student to drop out from school due to excess involving complications. These mentioned circumstances could be anything and just anything at all that will never show up its ugly head as a warning of no go area, many times this circumstances are things that brings excitement and relaxation, which comes in a very soothing forms at the beginning point. Seldomly, they give the feelings of freedom and self awareness without restrain from anyone. Moving in the arena of this freedom in too much satisfaction, then a student stalk classes routines. For example, the circumstances of this freedom could be meeting with an attractive beautiful girl on campus, life of partying as mention in earlier page, spending much time with campus games like football. basketball e.t.c.it might probably just be other habitual circumstances in various kind as well. This are issue every kind of student will be stepping on at some point in time, that brings in extra curriculum activities into their life on campus, that then to slow the pace of a quality performance in a certain inevitable way. Meanwhile, the choice is now left for the students in question in this experience to make a positive evaluating outcomes of the situation or loose total control into negativity. The right choice might be hard but it a something called**A get ready for**.Its a cross each participant student on campus must have to carry, which entails so much of sacrifice, An inevitable sacrifice. A phase that defines everything in totality towards preparedness.

In life, everything comes to a point where things must come to the state of test, so as to confirm if a particular participant in a system, prove he or she merit, an ongoing aspiration he or she aims or map out to achieve. Aspiration is good, but no one in life can just get a cake and have it, there must be the stage where the butter get mixed with sugar, there is a stage of moulding it up to get a particular design shape for elegant look and there is a phase where it passes through the oven plus icing and all that. A prepared student should be ready into the possibilities of this basics. In this refining fire of test, a cake is baked to texture of good taste to consumers for enjoyment. Now making and emphasis to this, the cake can only come out to be presentable and eatable because it could go through this process. without which it could not have been a cake nor to talk about coming out as one. Therefore, the process to this things are something inevitable for every active student members on campus in particular. This is what makes up the attribute of campus affairs in relativity to student response to the wave of it current. Other soothing activities on the side of enjoying reading too, as it own unique place with other kind of student. Personally some student are self starter, when I used the term self starter, I mean self motivator who don't have to wait for anyone before initiating a cause, as regard the area of their own personal field of interest, which seldomly requires a lots of self discipline on point. Studying on campus is a privilege that grant any student an opportunity to build, equip and make the most of every single offer, that is been thrown in the line of course towards self development.

On campus, there are some student known for active and spontaneous representation of quality performance .They keep the pace and maintain balancing on their course of study, keeping every details to departmental affair and analyzing their grade point average, in speculation. They are known for dexterity and brilliance on campus, quite well, they are close to their lecturer in study. Due to this familiarity, its like they could see through their examiner in transparent mode. Handling classes, assignment and test in a uniform required format. Even they make so much appearances with their brilliance to an extent that they are known on campus as the 'effico'. They have their sects too as friends and they then to encourage forums and idea among themselves. On several attempt in proving their brilliance, they are shortlisted on the campus departmental accomplishment shelf. Serious as this grant several of them scholarship to study in advance institution, to place their brilliance more in an enhance enable academic condition to explore greater possibilities. Emblem of excellence. It always a representation, a thing that honours the institution in high esteem amongs other institution, as regards exceptional performance. The product of a school is appreciate when excellence announce itself on platform as such as this representation.

Coming from the on set of the secondary state before admission gaining into higher institution, a sound academic background imbibes student into ethics that allows the awareness of objectivity in anything, ethics as this are found in quality standard schools that prepares student not only how to write in classes, test and exams only but they nurture the assimilation of each participating student into acceptance, attitude building and coordinated response to it, as the most prioritized responsibility that must be handled and deposited in them for productive and effective delivery from working mindset. Infact, secondary schools as this are major determinant that get student ready for what to expect and they create self confidence in them, that enables relativity with their studies, colleague and course mate on campus. Meanwhile others from school that are not as this quality, gets to learn from parent, guardian with experience on patience, tolerance and flexibility towards learning, that is if they have any one that could serve as that medium of support in the first place, because cases of this will need someone to usher their pace and progress with encouraging alertness towards what matter to their studies on campus. Orientation is an important aspect of learning, which in many cases build confidence in any student to stand up to possible occasion. There is always a place for preparation and equipment of self in knowledge, so as to be aware of possible circumstances that might occur on campus and ways of interaction with it, without altering personal attendance on campus. In so doing on daily basis, the campus affair turns a play ground towards progress, since proper attention as be taken to details on what is necessary to do and what not do under normal circumstances. A student fills much more secure in him or her self to the fullest effect, while several other activities on campus lay bear to them in transparency. There is always a need for mastery in whatever endeavour that is been under taken, so as to consecutively make a remarkable progress unhindering attempt to any responsibility in hand. In which in most cases, consciousness remains a factor to every possible important crucial acceptable details.

An institution should be vibrant in activities, so as to encourage more student that are finishing from the secondary school level, to make them as choices in the area of registration into their board. Its should be a smooth consistency in the aspect of operation in keeping the school going on but situations like this makes international institution differ from some local other continental countries, that goes through hindering governmental impose strike by the national association. The issue of strike in the west African countries is quite a frustrating situation, its alters the years and time range of academic completion in longer period. Seasons like this, are time of terrible trials for student in general because it places them in conditions of relapse, loosing of focus into contradicting activities while away on campus. For example, the circumstances might be a lucky chance to start a personal business that turns out to be a growing type at the cause of the strike. The person could be tempted to keep more focus on the business of trading, due to the gainful money making aspect involve in it and just get distracted from schools and news update. Others cases could stem from misplacement of priorities or some other people could just use it as an excuse towards insufficient support to academic continuation and divert towards doing other things they find less challenging. At this point of strike circumstances, a lot of things get displace, in this period of non engagement with schooling activities. Its always the case of choice as earlier mention, in whatever situation and most importantly decision making as regards the area of interest. Some kind of student has a natural flair for retaining and relating their on going experience of learning experiences with others, from different institution in same country experiencing the nation wide strike. Thereby using this medium to keep awareness of their returning plan to campus when the strike get call off at any given time for resumption.

Having a mind of relativity with other friends and sharing what has been learn with each other is a great idea that could go and extent to inform, update and equip themselves in most unique way that could bring a more clearer view on ways to handle campus life affair when they return back to campus. So therefore, a student must be sensitive enough not to get caught up in the act of careless relapses of distraction at this period, because its one of the major factors that changes an active student perception, into venturing to other external affairs that might exist as an hinderance. some certain kind of student react constructively to this period has a chance to deviate to a more better institutions with equipped facilities, that will guarantee a progressive and order calculated schooling experience to the profile of a willing student. A constant lifestyle of choices must be a conscious effort to be prioritize.

The case has always been a revolving outcomes of frustration, at this unprecedented strike period. The duress of extra more years of study to make up with courses outline management. Its really a period of drought in a certain kind of way that demoralizes a student instinctive feature towards response to learning from their course of study.

When a country suffer from bad government policies, its then to affect other sectors in the system network. This are the causes of strike emergence. Its a worse scenario when the strike extends more than expected in a way. Meanwhile, there are other condition of school vacation till the time of resumption, which is quite more fairer that an institute on strike as of comparison. Vacation is not strike, and that awareness sure paint a proper picture in a student mind into sticking close to campus life experience talk time with other colleagues in the various locality while enjoying the ease of the holiday thrill. Knowing its an occurring vacation, makes student appreciate the conditional system of schooling in condusiveness. As mention along the lines in the pages of this paragraph about student from less privilege struggling supporting parent in rural area trying to make sure their children are academically equipped, after observing the life style of some educationist in ways of precise sound judgment of tackling issues and healthy living, likewise the privilege student get to relate with other friends of their caliber in relation to knew ideas invogue on campus at vacation, there by improving themselves in current affairs and life style coordination to life while outside campus.

The air around vacation is a very good idea in whatever organization due to stress release working experience per time. Its a fact that an employee or a student should be hard working and maintaining balancing in keeping a progressive work out to the benefit of an organization. All the same, vacation should be considered periodically in the area of occupational activities so as to enhance balance and flexible performance. Information absorption at every level will need a break off from work, so as to be implemented under an inspired environment that will encourage excellence.

Inretrospect, the sensitivity of student as regards vacation and strike is quite a different ball game due to the fact that vacation is still an ongoing school activities for academic rest. So many angles of this aspect has prove benefitting to the well being of any participant individual in affiliation with other organization or other kind of system that works under group of some people. Vacation continues to serve has a refreshing outcomes to busy working session at longer period of functioning working exercise. Its reforms the mind, by giving it a clear picture and effective usage of mind into quality ideas that generate constructive upliftment to work productivity. Strike create this avenue but its tempt the mind and the attitudinal functions of student into distraction because the mind goes vaguely for been unable to speculate the possibility of school resumption. After several attempt of class reminder of studies and reading on and on, at a point relapse sent in due to the absence of the challenges that jells the occasion of campus activities of student on toes. On earlier pages, a lots of emphasies has been made based on the aspect of challenges that cripples a student on the institutional level on campus. This holiday, shows the importance of the challenges experience on campus as a refining fire that keeps a student on two feet for departmental and other faculty request that are mandatory. The features of such challenges lays itself bear by erasing relapse of complacency toward learning. At this platform, the reason for this challenges inculcate focus and total compliance to the campus demanding affairs without which the non self motivated student will never be pushed or force into doing what is necessary. Therefore there is a need to find a landscape, to place things in right perspective to ensure what works, in an environment such as a campus affairs. Anything far from this precept leads to clumsy complication among individual student as regards a proper productive effort and efficiency involve in outstanding performance at various level of tertiary standards.

Examination:

1. At some interval, examinations are carried out as an assessment to test each student responsive actions towards studies, which determines the essence of forward movement to the next class or graduation. In many cases, several tertiary institution follows almost the same period outline as this or possibly much closer. Examination in it real scene in a word, as regards the campus life experience is a period of justification and alertness to the reason why any student could be on campus, a time of clarity and truth towards every lesson learn.

Examination is factor, a major factor without which education would not have made any meaningful sense in anyway. Its proves the end meet of education as something not a waste of time, bringing in an atmosphere of awareness in relation to life. Come to think of it, its never a single individual in this game of Race, thinking about the relationship build under the consciousness of associating with campus affair is enough to make any student want to thighting up their sit belt, so as not to be left behind by colleagues and course mate at this phase. No doubt, there is meant to be an iota of fear but such fear to an active student is a good fear, that can make any student buckle up in facing up to the challenge of a good performance worthy to be complimented on at a least.

The procession is mandatory and compulsory in every sence. It also an avenue that helps improve the betterment of an institutionary standards, there is always something to talk about, the mode at which question probably must have been set in a technical way that requires tactful answer could make student at any level, to start considering another certain impression about who a lecturer was. Most especially, when a student thought him or her self already prepared for the examination only to find out that to answer a single question on paper in details becomes a challenge, looking closer to the question on paper to discover another side of what a suppose lectures mindful attitude toward his course could be. At this point if the participant student can not cope with extra effort towards what works in an examination condition a this to an average, effort might result in course carry over.

Therefore, details is something to be considered to how things are done at this tertiary level. Minding the fact that when at a course of studies, the mind must be open to a fullest effect so as to navigate through the possibility of rightful answer or resulting delivery to works on ground. Its always a measure, when studying for an examination. At the secondary phase, student are thought to answer questions in a direct manner approach, in which anything outside a required mode as this, is rather counted fowl or short in marks because the student is doing much more than a simple direct measurable way of answering questions.

Infact, the usually outcome of examination is always at possibility of doubt. Meanwhile its could be measured and scoped in arrangement of seriousness. To an inquisitive student, examination is fun.
